The BMS Scholars is a group of high-performing Secondary students who go beyond the traditional framework of the curriculum. In addition to their demanding IB Diploma Programme, they participate in additional competitions, take part in the Scholars Reading Group, where they examine critical works on a variety of themes, and actively participate in the Scholars Debate Club. These students are sharp, innovative thinkers and inspired learners.

Highlights from the 2021/22 Academic Year already include an engaging analysis in the Scholars Reading Group on Creating Capabilities by Martha Nussbaum, examining the philosophical and conceptual groundwork underlying Amartya Sen's well-known Capabilities Approach for the measurement of human development, as well as a BMS Debate Event featuring our scholars sparring over important and timely socio-political issues.

With the inaugural group starting in the 2020/21 Academic Year, the students were assigned 5 mentors from the BMS Secondary Faculty and are directed by the University and Career Counselor at BMS.
